

About The Artist

My name is Francheska, what inspires me is my faith, the ocean and the stars. My grandmother always wore earrings, she always bought unique ones in craft shops in San Juan, PR. Back when I was just in my late teen years, I used to go hunting for new earrings with her, it was one of the highlights of my visits to the island. Grandma passed away in 2008, I wish she was still here. I make these for her, because she poured so much love into my childhood, and I owe my first memories of wearing jewelry to her. My dream is that each person that purchases my jewelry can have a lasting memory to take with them.

About The earrings

These earrings are made out of polymer clay. They are light and easy to wear. Some of them are one-of-a-kind. Clay is first conditioned, formed, then it gets cut with custom 3D pieces to produce a clean shape. Once that is done and they are hand painted and designed, the shapes are baked, cured, sanded, buffed and sealed with varnish. This process takes days. Finishing an earring and naming them different star names is a beautiful process. I make them all differently because it also reminds me how unique each human is. You are beautifully unique, and I hope my earrings help you feel this way.

I make my earrings by hand, if you take care of these earrings, they will last a lifetime! Please take a look at our website to find out more about our earrings and care tips.
